As a matter of fact the Prays should at the outset have been made continuous, both for public convenience and in the interests of property, which in the Eastern district suffers to some extent by being in a measure cut off from the water frontage. The water between the Boat House of the Recreation Club and the Blue Houses is very shallow; and could be reclaimed at a comparatively small coat and the Naval and Military establishments 'need not be put to any great inconvenience by the Praya being carried in front of them. The scheme has frequently been mooted, we believe, but it has never been seriously entertained, the expense and other obstacles standing in the way. If, however, the city continues to progress and increase in size it may become a question for consideration whether this extension of the Praya is not both necessary and likely to pay for the cost, by the spread of population and capital

When, then, will it be decided to take serious measures to as: sure the identification and surveillance of these individuals? All over the world the progress of and dangers resulting from this invading race are seen; everywhere measures are being taken to onpose the former and to impose the common law on the individuals. When will Cochin-China do as other countries, and defend its native inhabitants against these invaders? On this subject we have urged the re-establishment of the system of letters of residence bearing the photographs of those to whom they are granted. This would be a good measure. Another, not less efficacious. is auggested to us by what is being done in San Francisco-with another object, it is true. The law on the transport of emigrants requiring for each one a minimum of space, is, so to speak, applied on land. The effect was immediate. Al the shanties in which, at San Francisco as at Saigon and Cholon, the Chinese lived erowded one on the other, giving rise to dangerous infections fevers, or at the least epidemic-all these shanetiss were vacated: it was possible to accertain the names of all those who had hitherto crowded together there up to that time known by no one. Thus exposed to the light of day, these vagabonds disappear like birds of night, and the authorities can at their case, by simple police provisions by which the owners of property not conforming to the law are severely punished, maintain an effective and efficacions surveillance which is sufficient to prevent the conflicts and fights ormerly led to the continual shedding of blood. WINIAN THEORY.

nterests of England and the tranquillity of the East can ill afford to dispense with the vigilant PROFESSOR HUXLEY ON THE DA The discourse at the Boyal Institution was lelivered recently by Professor Huxley to a provided audience. The title of Professor Hux. ley's discourse was "The Coming of Age of the Origin of Species," and its object was to inquire what were the grounds of the remarkable change of upinion in favour of the theory propounded Mr. Darwin's book since its publication, nearly years ago. Setting himself to examine the cause of this change, the lecturer said that our acceptance of any proposition depended on two factors, the one being the state of mind to which the evidence was offered, and the other-unfortunately the subordinate factor generallythe nature of the evidence itself. As regarded the Darwinian theory, it would be found in the first place that in the year 1859, when the Origin of Species" was published, the state of the mind of the biological world was absolutely different from what it was now. and; in the second place, that the evidence of the truth or falsehood of the main proposition contained in that work was totally different that year from what it was now. The progress of geological investigation in the past quarter of a be seen at once by any one convergant with the are entirely composed of cabbage and best leaves. history of solence to be, as it were, the natural ology. These principles were that we must explain the conditions of the past by those of the present. Darwin's book was the application of the same principle to the phenomena of organic The essential foundation of his book lay in the propositions that the innumerable species. genera, families of organio beings with which this world is peopled have all descended, each within its own class or group, from common parents, and have all been modified in the course of descent, and that all the existing forms of life are lineal descendants of those which lived before the Silurian epoch. If these propositions were true, the book that contained them was the most considerable contribution to biological science since the time of Harvey; if false, the rest of the book was of no cousequence. In 1859 it was objected to Mr. Darwin's theory that it got over difficulties by assuming a prosess of animal extinction for which there was not a shadow of a ground of evidence. It was true, then, that we knew of no sort of natural rangition between birds and any other creatures n the animal kingdom. But now science had traced the precise stages of a transition from reptile forms to bird forms. There was a perlect series of these transitional forms. Investigation had also filled up the apparent gap between ertabrate and invertebrate animals. Since 1859. also, scientific investigations had shown how utterly impossible it was to draw a line of demarcation between lower animal or lower vegetable life. While in 1859 Mr. Darwin could speak of the imperfect record of palmontology as being his chief. lifficulty, it was now possible for palecoutologists to paredy a well-known saying and to declare hat if evolution had not existed it would have been necessary to invent it. As mutters now speculation, it was historical fact. When therefore the anniversary of the publication of the that it remained for them to do was to congratulate the reporated author of this work on n the world of science and by the influence of the destrine he had propounded won for himself a place beside our Harvey, but that he had the singular good fortune to outlive storms of envy and detraction, and to see " the stone which was

REGULATIONS AS TO SOLDIERS' AND SAILORS'

1.—Privates in H.M. Army or Navy, Noncommissioned Officers. Army Schoolmasters (not Superintending or First Class) or Schoolmistresses may sand half-onnce letters to the United Kingdom vià Brindisi or vià Marseilles at the rate of four cents (twopence) each, which may be prepaid either in Imperial or in Hongkong Stamps. 2.—The same turivileges apply to letters adressed to the Privates and Non-commissioned Officers named above. 3.-All such letters prepaid at the former rate of two cents (one penny) will be forwarded to or from the United Kingdom by private steamer and not by the mail packets: 4. Private steamers leave Hongkong for London about every ten days, and are from six to seven weeks on the voyage. 5.—The letters must not exceed half an onnes.

No handkerchiefs, jewellery, &c., can be sent, even with the ends open. 6.—If from a Soldier or Sailor his class and description must be stated in full on the letter, the cover of which must be signed by the Commanding Officer, with name of regiment, ship, &c., in full.

7.—If to a Soldier or Sailor, his class and description, with name of regiment, ship, &c., must se stated in full. 8.—Soldiers and Sailors have no privileges with regard to books or papers, nor can these be prepaid with Imperial Stams.

LETTERS FOR THE UNITED STATES BY SAILING. When it is desired to forward letters to the United States by a sailing ship which is not notified as carrying a mail, it is only necessary to post the letters in the ordinary way, marked with the name of the ship, and prepaid B cents per half ounce as usual. This Office then undertakes the duty of obtaining notice of departure and despatching the correspondence. It is requested that the letters be posted if possible at least one day before the date fixed for sailing.

TEA- MUSTERS. Persons who send Musters of Tea through the Post in Tins are requested to have them made flat or square instead of round, as it is impossible to pack round tine scourely in the mail bags. It is believed that the ton will travel more safely in flat time, which are not so liable as round ones to be bulged in. 4 by 3 by 11 inches is suggested as a good sise. The tine should not have sharp corners.
